

Sample Chamber 670.12

This sample holder contains a small sample chamber with two capton windows. The powder on a standard sample holder can be prepared under a certain atmosphere or in a clove box and then transferred into the chamber.

The whole chamber is sealed against environment air and can be flooded with inert gases using a small integrated valve. Also, evacuation is possible.